That the convulsion was as near the Sandwich Islands as it was to South America, if not nearer, is confirmed by America, if not nearer, is confirmed by proved pattern. America, if not nearer, is confirmed by the sinking of the shore of Hawaii, and the continuance of earthquakes in its neighborhood. We are told that the subsidence of Hawaii in some places was from three to four, and in others from six to seven feet, while at Hilo the greatest subsidence noticed was eight inches. In Hilo, Pura and Kaufraol one to five earthquakes occurred daily. When we get full accounts from all parts of the world of this terrible earth-

Are the Rich-mond editor's "private advices" derived from carpet-baggers sent into the State from Virginia to vote? Of the existence of such a scheme we have had repeated warning. York Shipping List is full of suggestiveness to young men, and we commend it to their consideration, earnestly advising them to follow outs it ideas:

"The proportion of agriculturists in the United States to the total industrial population was, in 1840, sixty-five percent; in 1850, sixty-three percent, and in 1860, fifty-five percent. The disproportion is much greater at the present time. In 1859 the wheat crop was 173, 104,924 bushels, and the total population; about 31,000,000; in 1864, 175,000,000 bushels, and the population 34,505/882. In 1890 wheat sold in New York at $1.45 and $1.54, in gold, per bushel, and in 1866, $1.94, and the population, engaged in the various branches of manufacturing industry at the present time than ten years ago, and this inlling off in the productive force of the country has produced its natural result—namely, an enormous increment in the cost of everything we eat, wear or see."

There can be no doubt that the disproportion of producers to consumers, here pointed out, is quite as potent an element of high prices as depreciated currency and an extreme rate of taxician, all of which grew out of the late war. One of the worst characteristics of our countrymen, is the growing disposition of our young men to exchange manual labor, such as agricultural or mechanical pursuits for the lighter occupation of typic and certainfol leading to competence, than the latter. All experience goes to show, that whoever would secure to himself wealth, or even the common comforts of life, must labor for them, and, in modern times, perhaps, more than ever unremittingly. All substantial results come from labor, which is, in fact, the philosopher's stone. It is a generally recognized principle of political economy, that agricultural and mechanical industry is the basis of all prosperity—that without agriculture and manufactures, shop, which afford a better opportunity for cultivating the principle of thritt, domestic sentiments and every habit that imparis gonuine character to life, or make life itself a gift worth having. An explosion of a locomotive occurred this morning, on the Connellaville Railroad, near Everson & Preston's mill in this city, by which one man amed George Gilmore, fireman, was killed, and three others were seriously in pared. The locomotive was attached to a train of empty coal cars, and was about proceeding from a siding when the engine jumped the track, and the steam was turned off for the purpose of putting it on the track again. When the steam was again let on, the explosion occurred, the engine being literally blown to pieces, parts of it were scattered in every direction. The tank coupling was wranched, and the concussion forced back the tank, as well as the entire train, for a distance of nearly thirty feet. Part of the engine was forced in the opposite direction, and was jammed against the rocks on the upper side of the road. Mr. Gilmore, who was on the pilot house of the engineer, Mr. Hehoe, was stepping down at the time, and escaped injury. Geo.
